- AML risk assessment and controls, including software programs that monitor account activity/transactions for AML purposes

The Policy outlines the elements of sound KYC procedures, and provides guidelines for obtaining and corroborating customer identification and other information.

The Policy defines the responsibility of each business within the Company to perform its own assessment of risk to money laundering activities, and to develop risk-based policies and procedures taking into consideration its products and services, premises, and systems, customer characteristics, country and industry risk.

The Policy also makes clear the Company’s commitment to cooperate with governmental and law enforcement authorities in connection with transactions involving the Company.

The effectiveness of the Company’s anti-money laundering efforts depends upon the knowledge and vigilance of its employees. Accordingly, the Policy requires a risk assessment of employee job functions and imposes certain AML training requirements.
