

SOLUTIONS FOR A CHANGING MARKET

James Malgieri – Executive Vice President and Head of Collateral Management and Segregation, BNY Mellon Markets

The collateral management marketplace continues to evolve rapidly. There are new regulations that are impacting the market participants, which seems like almost daily. Those regulations are going to require our clients to identify, mobilize, and move collateral to collateralize their exposures with their counterparts.

BNY Mellon has been in the collateral management business for well over 30 years. We have assembled a team of professionals that not only understand the regulations but understand how those regulations will impact firms in the marketplace. We offer a consultative approach in partnering with those firms to not only understand what their current processes are, but to offer solutions that will benefit those clients in terms of complying with the regulations.

In our third paper, “Collateral Solutions for a Changing Market,” our BNY Mellon professionals talk about solutions that are available to firms that will be impacted as the regulations move forward. Our solutions help our clients identify collateral that they may need to post to their counterparts, we help them mobilize that collateral, and we help them track that collateral through the process.

If a firm wants to learn more, they can go to our website www.bnymellon.com where they can download our paper.
