CHARGES

BNY Mellon has a comprehensive and flexible fee schedule which is available on request for prospective clients. These fees are subject to negotiation and may reflect transaction volumes.

Fee schedules are based on a range of criteria, such as:

- Per transaction charge for sending and receiving payments
- Payment repair charge for non-STP payments
- Payment query, amendment or cancellation charges
- SWIFT reporting charge per transaction / message
- Electronic Banking or data translation charges (these will depend on the services subscribed to with us)
- Monthly account charge
- Subscription charge for value adding monthly payment services
- An implementation charge, which will depend on the complexity of your account set up

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

BNY Mellon offers GBP clearing services to customers such as correspondent banks and non-bank financial institutions globally. In order to accurately assess the correct eligibility, we work closely with our prospective clients right from the beginning of the process to review and assess their requirements. Some of the key factors we evaluate are credit assessment, customer business model, strategic risk, customer requirements, expected transaction volumes, including growth projections and overall relationship with BNY Mellon.

Our security standards apply to all client types and every prospective client is expected to meet these. Before activating any accounts, our clients are carefully guided through full system testing.
