

BE PART OF CHINA'S GROWTH HISTORY

July 2020

China.

Once an agricultural society and now the world's second largest economy, accounting for 16% of global growth.

The country is also the world's second largest exporter, has the biggest smartphone market and is on track to launch the world's first digital currency.

And there's more to come as China continues to open up its markets to foreign investment.

Today, China's equity market is the second largest in the world at $8.5 trillion.

Its bond market is worth over $14 trillion, only behind the U.S.

And as reforms gather pace, this is creating immense opportunities for international investors.

These equities and bonds are now increasingly added into global indices. China currently has more weight in the MSCI Emerging Markets Index than South Korea, India and Taiwan combined. Its bond market is expected to reach $23 trillion by 2025.

But foreign ownership remains underrepresented as investors struggle to keep up with the web of regulations, fast moving developments and operational challenges.

With investors now racing to capture this growth, At BNY Mellon we help you chart the right path into unfamiliar territories. Our suite of integrated solutions provides you with the required local expertise, seamless connections and complementary capabilities, giving you the competitive edge in navigating China.

From industrial revolution to market evolution, turn this insight into opportunity.
